International Small Cap Fund Risks: International investments involve special risks, including currency fluctuation, lower liquidity, different accounting methods and economic and political systems, and higher transaction costs. These risks typically are greater in emerging markets. Securities of smaller companies tend to be more volatile and less liquid than those of large companies, may have underperformed the stocks of large companies during some periods and tend to have a shorter history of operations than large companies. Growth securities may underperform other asset types during a given period.

Mid Cap Value Fund Risks: Securities of medium-sized companies tend to be more volatile and less liquid than those of large companies, may have underperformed the securities of large companies during some periods and tend to have a shorter history of operations than large companies. Value securities may underperform other asset types during a given period.
