Commentary

After Q1's spike in volatility, equity markets were more placid in Q2. Non-US small-cap equities rose in local terms in Q2, but finished negative in USD terms due to the US dollar's strong rebound. The strengthening US dollar also weighed on emerging markets currencies, which contributed to EM equities trailing developed markets in Q2 after outperforming earlier in the year. Within developed markets, the US was a standout as tax cuts boosted profit-growth momentum. By sector, energy led the way on rising oil prices, while financials was the weakest, due in part to tightening financial conditions and flattening in the US yield curve. Overall, corporate earnings fundamentals remain healthy. However, increasing trade tensions, currency volatility and signs of moderating growth in parts of the world, such as Europe and Japan, are viewed as key risks to the market environment.

Our portfolio trailed the MSCI EAFE Small Cap Index in Q2, though it remains ahead YTD. Our sector positioning worked against us on a relative basis due to our lack of energy exposure and above-benchmark weighting in financials. Regionally, our emerging markets exposure was a hindrance.

Our biggest detractor was Tele Columbus (TC1), Germany's third-largest cable operator. Delays in expected synergies from recent acquisitions and disappointing broadband subscriber additions weighed on shares. Notwithstanding TC1's poor execution, we remain attracted to the competitive advantage of the company's cable infrastructure and the potential for upselling existing customers to higher margin broadband and telephony services.

Payments processor Wirecard was our top contributor. The company is delivering robust organic growth, driven by transactions volumes as momentum in e-commerce growth shows no signs of slowing. The company recently inked agreements with French bank Crédit Agricole to provide e-commerce and acquiring services in France and other European countries and with Mizuho Bank to provide acquiring and issuing services to the bank's corporate clients in Asia.

Carefully consider the Fund's investment objective, risks and charges and expenses. This and other important information is contained in the Fund's prospectus and summary prospectus, which can be obtained by calling 800.344.1770. Read carefully before investing.

International investments involve special risks, including currency fluctuation, lower liquidity, different accounting methods and economic and political systems, and higher transaction costs. These risks typically are greater in emerging markets. Securities of small- and medium-sized companies tend to have a shorter history of operations, be more volatile and less liquid and may have underperformed securities of large companies during some periods. Growth securities may underperform other asset types during a given period.

MSCI EAFE Small Cap Index measures the performance of small-cap companies in developed markets, excluding the US and Canada. MSCI EAFE Index measures the performance of developed markets, excluding the US and Canada. The index(es) are unmanaged; include net reinvested dividends; do not reflect fees or expenses; and are not available for direct investment.

For the purpose of determining the Fund's holdings, securities of the same issuer are aggregated to determine the weight in the Fund. The discussion of portfolio holdings does not constitute a recommendation of any individual security. These holdings comprise the following percentages of the Fund's total net assets as of 30 Jun 2018: Tele Columbus AG 1.6%. Securities named in the Commentary, but not listed as a Top Ten Holding or not listed here are not held in the Fund as of the date of this report. The portfolio managers' views and portfolio holdings are subject to change and the Fund disclaims any obligation to advise investors of such changes.

Unless otherwise indicated, all information in this report includes all classes of shares, except performance and expense ratio information, and is as of the date shown in the upper right hand corner. Totals may not sum due to rounding.
