Commentary

Following the Q1 rally, global equities remained ascendant in April with all major equity regions turning in solid gains. Risk assets benefited from positive macro data, as well as corporate earnings that have come in ahead of lowered expectations. Recent economic indicators in China, the US and parts of Europe, including Italy and Spain, have been favorable. Consistent with a better global growth outlook, cyclicals led defensives during the month.

Our portfolio outpaced the MSCI EAFE Index in April, putting it solidly ahead for the year-to-date period. Besides positive stock selection, we also benefited from an above-benchmark weighting in financials and lack of real estate investments.

Wirecard—our biggest detractor in Q1—was our top contributor in April. Wirecard released full-year results showing continued strong free cash flow and organic growth, driven by transactions volume, and it received a clean audit opinion from its accountant. In addition, Wirecard announced that SoftBank, a Japanese holding company, had signed terms to take a 5.6% stake in Wirecard through a €900 million convertible bond, providing a welcome vote of confidence amid ongoing allegations by the Financial Times. Besides the financing, Wirecard and SoftBank entered into a strategic partnership that will promote Wirecard's growth in Japan and South Korea.

Few holdings were meaningfully lower during the month. Our biggest detractors—Petrobras, a Brazilian oil and gas producer, Medtronic, a medical devices leader, and Genmab, a biotechnology company—were each down between 2% to 4%.

International investments involve special risks, including currency fluctuation, lower liquidity, different accounting methods and economic and political systems, and higher transaction costs. These risks typically are greater in emerging markets. Securities of small- and medium-sized companies tend to have a shorter history of operations, be more volatile and less liquid and may have underperformed securities of large companies during some periods. Growth securities may underperform other asset types during a given period.
